DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY
(2017-2018)

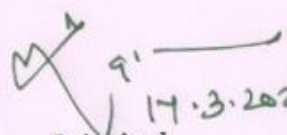

Feed Back:

1. Feedback from Stake holders, Alumni and students about the curriculum is collected regularly and it is taken into consideration while restructuring the syllabus.
2. Suggestions given by experts from industry and from research institutes are incorporated into the curriculum design.

Action Taken

To emphasis the significance of water and its conservation towards the economic and social development of our nation, a non major elective paper entitled 'Water Management - An Environmental Perspective' is introduced. To craft a better understanding of Chemistry in everyday life and to aware of chemical reactions involved in daily practices, 'Chemistry in Daily Life' is introduced in the curriculum for non chemistry students.
