Feedback about the curriculum is collected periodically from experts, Industry Professionals, Alumni and Students and it is taken into consideration while reforming the syllabus.

Suggestions given by experts from industry and from research institutes are incorporated into the curriculum design.

Action Taken

To craft a better understanding of Zoology in everyday life and to prepare the students with necessary skills on livestock development, obtaining desired products from them and for self employment generation, Skill Based Subject paper "Animal Farming" is offered.

For better employability and to develop skills in collecting, analyzing the samples and preparing reports to work as full fledged lab technologists, Medical Laboratory Technology paper is introduced in the curriculum as an Elective paper.

The traditional education system was shifted to Outcome Based Education, which is an empowerment – oriented approach to produce graduates with technical knowledge to meet the requirements of the job market.
