Organised by : IQAC
No. of Participants : 170 staff members

Prof. S.Balamurugan, Dean, School of Communication and Computer Sciences, Kongu Engineering College, Perundurai, was the resource person for the Faculty Development Programme on "Bloom's Taxonomy – A Cognitive Perspective to Teaching, Learning & Evaluation Process" organized by the Internal Quality Assurance Cell on 29.10.2015. He initiated the programme with the quotes of the renowned scientist Albert Einstein stressing on the importance of inculcating thinking skills in the young learners. He exhorted that there should be an enriching learning ambience to train the minds to think and create. A good educational system has to accentuate the six levels in learning – knowledge, comprehension, application, analysis, synthesis, and evaluation, he said. He stressed that a question paper should kindle the intellectual rigor of the learners. To achieve this, a question paper should be a judicious mix of qualitative and quantitative content, focusing on the three attributes – validity, reliability and usability. He pointed out that the quality of question paper, scrutiny and valuation are hallmarks of a good educational system, and the total involvement of faculty in enhancing the skill sets of the learners is a prerequisite to take education to higher levels.

organized by : IQAC
No. of Participants : 154 staff members

In the Faculty Development Programme organized by IQAC, a thought-provoking address on "Introspection" was delivered by Dr. S.S. Palanisamy, (Retd.) Professor in Tamil, Gobi Arts & Science College, Gobi, on 31.10.2015. Life has become mechanical with focus on money and power, he said. He quoted some interesting and inspiring anecdotes from the lives of great men and minds to pinpoint how they have attained great heights in spite of social and familial barriers. He stated the need for leading a wholesome life by embracing higher values and ideals. He pointed out how one can groom oneself by delving deep into the recess of mind by introspection. He stressed that one has to look into one's inner mind to analyze, reanalyze and reorient oneself to live a selfless, committed life. He advised the participants to keep going and growing mentally, morally and spiritually to contribute to the holistic abundance of oneself and society. It turned to be a well-received programme instilling in every mind an urge to lead a quality life by engaging in deep and positive introspection.
