Prof. S.Balamurugan,Dean, School of Communication and Computer Sciences, Kongu Engineering College, Perundurai, was the resource person for the Faculty Development Programme on "Bloom's Taxonomy – A Cognitive Perspective to Teaching, Learning & Evaluation Process" organized by the Internal Quality Assurance Cell on 29.10.2015. He initiated the programme with the quotes of the renowned scientist Albert Einstein stressing on the importance of inculcating thinking skills in the young learners. He exhorted that there should be an enriching learning ambience to train the minds to think and create. A good educational system has to accentuate the six levels in learning – knowledge, comprehension, application, analysis, synthesis, and evaluation, he said. He stressed that a question paper should kindle the intellectual rigor of the learners. To achieve this, a question paper should be a judicious mix of qualitative and quantitative content, focusing on the three attributes – validity, reliability and usability. He pointed put that the quality of question paper, scrutiny and valuation are hallmarks of a good educational system, and the total involvement of faculty in enhancing the skill sets of the learners is a prerequisite to take education to higher levels.
